sagt einmal: Es ist
unwichtig, was man
tut: das einzig wichtige, das zählt, ist Geistes-

der Augenblick, in dem man es tut.

" — but art has some-thing the others haven't got, it can't be used for anything outside of its own terms.

In ~~fact~~ that sense it is made for its own sake, and is in that sense, a circular move-ment. A tautology.

That's why I haven't even wished to criti-cize entertainment value for it. It has no utility value.

limits old motifs con-
-tinually reappear in new creations, so art lies within the scope of few norms or types that derive from old tradition, each constant -ly reappearing in diverse forms, each with its own history, as in Nature. Nothing, therefore, is purely arbitrary, but all is governed by cir-cumstances and rela-tionship.

There are certain rules
- which you should
- know in history - all
- the great epochs they
- are determined by the
- same spirit in the same
- form, and each epoch
- is a new creation of
- the human mind, and
- each epoch is important,
- and each epoch is a
- new step in the
- development of the
- human mind.

"I am not a reformer.
- I don't want
- to change the world.
- I want to let
- it be. That's all I want."
